THE MERCENARY RESCUE DOG

D. MAKIENZY

AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL

"You cannot build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence."

By: Abraham Lincoln

The best part of the day began just after the school bell rang, when Greg and his classmate Bryan, on their way home, chased each other through the flowery fields. And, numbed by enthusiasm, they didn't feel the fatigue or the laughter of the peaks. Especially when they spotted a grasshopper or a butterfly, beautiful and tattooed on its wings, they both desperately tried to catch it.

Thus began the dazzling adventure of these boys. That in the innocence of their souls, they tore up the fields as if they had escaped from captivity in search of life. It's true, and life was right there, in the green and flowery forest, in the scent of the damp earth, in the breeze and in the melodic chirping of the birds that flew from one tree to another avoiding intruders...

The colorful fauna and flora made a perfect mating, a glimmering rainbow!

And it was certainly at this moment that Greg, amazed by the scenery of exuberant nature, allowed himself to be enchanted by the birds – a flock of parakeets.

- Stop, Bryan! – Quiet! – Don't scare the birds away.
- Said Greg, panting heavily. As he pointed out the bird tree to his friend.

Anxiously, he quickly took his slingshot out of his pocket.

- Greg, what are you going to do with that slingshot? – Bryan asked in a whisper.
